Play for All Ages @ The Art Barn

“The imagination is an essential tool of the mind, a fundamental way of thinking, an indispensable means of becoming and remaining human.”

— Ursula K. Le Guin, author

“Creativity and the world of the imagination—the beauty of what we see as a child and the kind of play that we experience as a child—can be a way for us to survive tough times. ” — Diane Paulus, Theatre & Opera Director

“We shouldn’t stick too close to everyday reality but give room to the reality of the heart, of the mind, and of the imagination. Those things can help us in life.”

— Hayao Miyazaki, film director and storyteller

“A problem is a chance for you to do your best.”
— Duke Ellington, pianist, composer and band leader

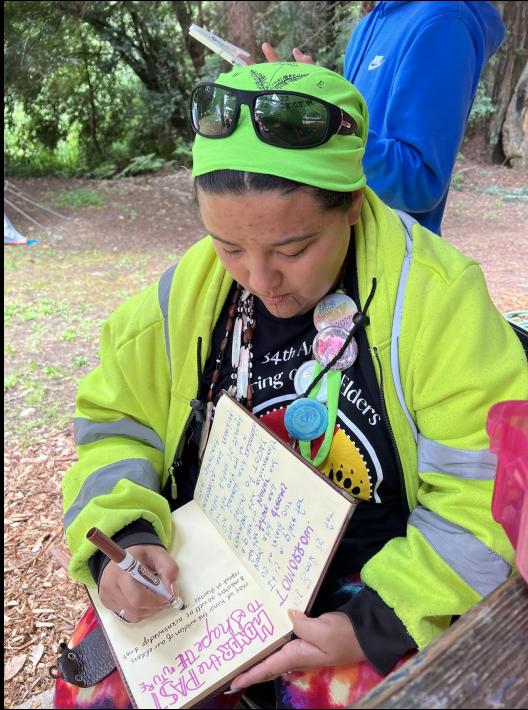

“If we merge mercy with might, and might with right, Then love becomes our legacy, And change, our children’s birthright.”

— Amanda Gorman, poet, The Hill We Climb

“As long as we are engaged in storytelling that moves the culture forward, it doesn't matter what format it is.”

— LeVar Burton, actor, director, and Reading Rainbow host

Who leaves home?
Who leaves behind
All that one loves?
Everything dear to one?

Are immigrants made? Or born?
Like migrating geese we come
To seek a better life.
To escape war and poverty.
To carve from the wind
A vision of a new life
A new world where the promise
Of a future can fulfill the mirage
Of freedom and belonging...

excepted from “Who Leaves Home?” by GENNY LIM
The concluding poem in Lenora Lee Dance’s Dreams of Flight

Songs of the Diaspora

explores the intersectional ways that poetry, music, and art can interweave to connect us to our ancestral heritages.

“The Chinese were instrumental in the county's development in the 1800s, but little has been written documenting their contribution to local history.”

— Lorraine Hee-Chorley, fourth generation descendant of Mendocino settlers

Lost in drifts of dawn
you walk and walk
With eyes of raven
and slits of obsidian
Don't slip or blink or you'll fall into the mouth of the man-eater
Don't sleep or you'll awake inside the skin of the seal or mouth of the tiger
Let your soul slip into oblivion with migrating geese and you will see with a thousand eyes
into the past and future

TERRASTORIES

Terrastories is an application for communities to map, protect, and share stories about their land. Explore Terrastories offers a whole new interface that is similar to the one used locally but is open to anyone interested in navigating it online or offline.

"What place would you advise me to visit now?" he asked.
"The planet Earth," replied the geographer. "It has a good reputation."

— Antoine de Saint-Exupery, The Little Prince

"All human stories are migration stories because everyone is a refugee from their own childhood."

— Mohsin Hamid, novelist and writer
